A Pennsylvania Cattleman Surveeys El Paso's Field and Urges Feeding.

George R. Stevenson, of Waverly, a is visiting El Paso. Mr. Stevenson is enthusiastic over the possibilities of cattle growing and particularly of dairy farming in this section. No man, probably is better qualified to speak with authority touching this phase of found industry, for Mr. Stevenson and his seen are the proprietors of the Horsless Holstein farms' at Waverly, Ps. Mr. Stevenson is a warm friend of George R. Lebaron, chairman of the land and irrigation committee of the chamber of commerce.

Mr. Stevenson tells of the advantages of the hornless cow. He is an entimiset on this subject, and has made a fortune out of his entimisms. But he is quite as anthusiastic over the possibilities of cattle growing in the possibilities of cattle growing in the point.

malleys under the Ellephant Butte project.

Mamey in Peeding at $18 a Ten

"We make money," he declared, "bir money, back in Pennsylvania feeding cattle on affaifa hay that costs us $18 a ton when we buy it in quantities and under favorable circumstances. We have a climate to contend with whose rigors you people don't dream of out note. We can't grow say such hay, or any such pasture, as you can. You can heat us at every turn with the one exception that we are closer to the New Tork market.

If can't say that I am really as-

New York market.

"I can't say that I am really astonished to find no more attention paid to cattle feeding and to dairying in these valleys; for you are undeveloped as yet. But I predict that within a very few years you will either multiply your industries along this line by a very large factor, or deserve the severe condemnation of progressive farmers in other sections. You certainly have the raw material here, the local market.

World is Our Market.

land, the water, "the climate and the local market.

World Is Our Market.

"By local market, I don't mean simply the fil Paso market, I mean that which is afforded by surrounding towns and country, in the United States and in Mexico, and particularly in the mining districts of the two countries, within a radius of several hundred miles. I'm told that you can absolutely control this market the moment you began producing eartis enough to supply it. And I can't see why not. You certainly have the advantages of proximity and railway connection; and if you fellows on! undersell kansas City, with her handicap of additional freighting and your advantage of climatic and other favoring conditions, I don't know how to figure this kind of a proposition."
